Invitation

Dear guests and readers of this bulletin,
You are invited to join our club as stamp collecting has provided many of us with deep insights into past and present cultures of countries we may or may never visit. As a guest you can find the behaviour of exited members a bit overwhelming. Do not be afraid to ask questions. If you do, please do not be overwhelmed with the answer as you usually get more than you asked for. Some of us have been collecting stamps for such a long time that we have forgotten what it feels like to be a beginner.

Join in and enjoy a pastime that need not be expensive. If you have inherited a stamp collection we will provide you with information (free of charge) about the value of that collection. Again, you may get comments you do not like (there is rust in the collection; not worth much but interesting enough to expand; etc.). We are human and we have our little errors. However, if you do not like the information received, by all means, get a second opinion.

Looking back and ahead

There is something new in stamps: the non-denominational stamp for eligible Australians to stay connected in the ever changing world of mail. To receive those stamps the eligible Australian must fill out an application for a MyPost account (concession). The application is available at every Post Office.

The image shows the front of a form titled "Application for a MyPost account (concession)". It includes fields for name, address, and a privacy statement section.

Front only

A couple of things strike me as worth a thought. How does the bedridden pensioner get an application once he is aware that he has to fill out an application? The form is large but the lettering is not for vision impaired. The form is also forward thinking as it has a change of details section! Remember, this is the first time this is done. It also has a small advertising section called Marketing opt-in to sure you get more junk mail. Also keep in mind the applying pensioner has never ever used Australia Post and therefore has no idea what products Australia Post offers. Stamps perhaps? I am impressed.

Good luck and happy stamping
